merchant.

Visa Account Updater service only applies when:

- a cardholder has authorized a merchant(s) to charge automatic recurring payments to their Virtual Visa Debit card,
- the merchant has enrolled in Visa Account Updater, and
- the cardholder's Virtual Visa Debit card number or expiry date changes.

This means that if you have set up a recurring payment with a participating merchant using your RBC Virtual Visa Debit card, we will automatically provide that merchant with your new card number and expiry date when we reissue your card so that your recurring payments are not disrupted.

You can opt out of the Visa Account Updater service if you don't want your new card number and expiry date to be automatically shared with participating merchants. Whether you opt out or make no changes to your account set up, you remain responsible for any recurring payments you have authorized merchants to charge to your Virtual Visa Debit card.

For more details including how to opt-out of the Visa Account Updater service, visit rbc.com/vvdfaq or call us at 1-800-769-2512.
